

Quad City's Vintage Rods car club recently donated $3,000 to the Black Hawk College Quad-Cities Foundation to support student scholarships.

Since 1984, Quad City's Vintage Rods car club has given more than $73,000 to the Black Hawk College Foundation and has donated to the college for more consecutive years than any other organization.

The donations are generated by gate admissions to the group's annual car show held every fall at the college's Quad-Cities Campus.

The 45th Quad City's Vintage Rods Annual Car Show was Sept. 25, 2016, and attracted more than 410 registered antique cars, hot rods, street rods and special interest vehicles.

The donation supports the Vintage Rods scholarship, which is available to Quad-Cities Campus students with excellent academic performance. Three students received a scholarship in Fall 2016, two students received a scholarship in Fall 2015, and four students received a scholarship in Fall 2014.

Last updated 12/22/2016

Share this:

- Click to share on Twitter \(Opens in new window\)
- Click to share on Facebook \(Opens in new window\)
- Click to email this to a friend \(Opens in new window\)
- Click to print \(Opens in new window\)
- More

Quad City's Vintage Rods club members Gary Miller of East Moline (left) and Ron Stritesky of Milan (right) presented a $3,000 donation to Dr. Bettie Truitt, Black Hawk College president, and Maureen Dickinson, executive director of the BHC QC Foundation (right).