How can I make time in my life for an online class?

Taking an online class sounds easy. However, the work load is as much or more as a face-to-face class. To evaluate whether you have time in your present life to take an online class, try this time audit. Are there some things you need to give up, move around, postpone, or get help with in order to make room in your life for a college class? Tips and hints for time management and other study tips for online learning are also included in our Orientation to Online Learning.
