

A

Are online courses right for me?

Online courses could be a convenient way to be a student. Learn what it takes to be a successful online learning student including Is Online Learning for Me? Online instruction is generally not recommended for new college students; please consult an advisor before enrolling in an online course.

Categories: Advising, Student Resources